Preparations

This part of Martindale contains brief details of proprietary preparations available in a number of countries and includes those supplied on prescription as well as those sold directly to the public. They are provided to help the reader identify preparations and to suggest their uses. Inclusion is not an endorsement of the activity of any ingredient, nor of the preparation's indications.

For this edition we have covered Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Czech Republic, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hong Kong, Hungary, India, Indonesia, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Philippines, Poland, Portugal, Russia, Singapore, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Thailand, Turkey, Ukraine, the United Arab Emirates, UK, USA, and Venezuela. Generally, each entry consists of the proprietary name, the manufacturer or distributor and country, the active ingredients, and a summary of the indications as given by the manufacturer. Where possible, entries from different countries but with the same name and active ingredients have been amalgamated for clarity. Instances where a preparation name has been used for preparations with significantly different ingredients have been highlighted. Such names may be for actively marketed preparations or for preparations that have been withdrawn from the market.

An entry may cover a range of dosage forms and strengths. Dosage forms are only specified when different forms have the same proprietary name but different active ingredients. Furthermore, this section is not intended as a guide to prescribing; where a preparation is to be supplied the dose should be appropriate for that preparation and that particular patient, and authoritative local sources should be consulted.

With the exception of homoeopathic preparations the names of the ingredients have been translated into English. Almost all the ingredients listed are described in the monographs in Drugs and Ancillary Substances, and readers are directed to an appropriate monograph by the page number provided after the ingredient.

Preparations that have been withdrawn from the market in the last few years or are no longer being actively marketed may be identified by the symbol †. These preparations are retained in Martindale since they may still be in circulation or their names may still be referred to in the literature and in practice. Readers should be aware that since this section was prepared other preparations are likely to have been withdrawn or introduced; also ingredients may change, as may indications.

The manufacturer's full name and contact details can be found in the Directory of Manufacturers.

Each preparation title is listed in the General Index. Where thought helpful, preparation titles have been listed at the end of the relevant monograph. However, it should be noted that the absence of such a list at the end of a monograph is no indication as to the availability of a substance as many drugs are marketed as generic or unbranded preparations.
